

Bird's Eye View

By MARTLET

Queens Raided.

The enthusiasm of certain McGill football fans reached a new high on Friday night last, much to the astonishment of the members of the Montreal Lithographers' Union. This worthy organization was busily engaged in its regular monthly meeting at the Queen's Hotel, when suddenly the doors burst open and in rushed the rollicking rooters of Old McGill.

With a stirring rendition of the McGill yell, and a cheery "Hope you win, boys!" these gentlemen left as suddenly as they had come, leaving the Lithographers not a little nonplussed. Evidently the ardent supporters of the Red and White team were unable, in their enthusiasm, to distinguish between a Lithographer and a Westerner. For their information may we remark that the Western team did not check in at the hotel until an hour after the grande invasion!

Signs Direct Students.

When a plumber gets into R.V.C. that is nothing; but when a co-ed walks into the Engineering Building, that's something. A few days ago the Daily reported the adventures of some poor misguided feminine soul who wandered into the sanctum of the campus "he-men." This so aroused the mass sentiment of the campus rank-and-file that immediate steps were taken to prevent the recurrence of such an "incident."

Artistic, but efficient red signs now dot the campus to guide all to their proper destinations. Stogents, new or old, drunk or sober, awake or asleep, can't help seeing these signs, and so no more will R.V.C. invade the sacred precincts of certain would-be misogynists. Extra! Extra!

It seems that the law faculty has been feeling rather let-down about not being included on one of these new directional signs on the Campus. The students in that faculty have gone so far as to pencil the name "Law" on one of the signs on the Lower Campus, and to put an arrow to indicate the direction of their hovel.

The following article appeared in the social column of a local newspaper about a week ago:

Mr. and Mrs. X. Y. Zilch and Mr. Elmer McGossie of Hickville, are in Montreal for the Horse Show, in which Mr. Zilch is taking part.

Reptile Found.

It seems that a certain turtle called Oscar was adopted out by a high executive on the Daily to an inmate of R.V.C. But the unhappy creature soon got lost in the general hubbub of that institution. There appeared in the Daily an item on the Lost Column pleading for the immediate return of Oscar, and R.V.C. was in an uproar. At last he was discovered one cool day under the radiator, toasting his toes (Cf. Zoology Department) and was duly returned to his red cookie box and is now living happily ever after.

Agitate for New Flag.

There has been much discussion as to whether a campaign ought to be started to make some sort of improvement on the flag that floats over the Arts Building.

Some people are offended by the patch which has been put in the (Continued on Page Four)

HEAVY VOTING MARKS ANNUAL ARTS ELECTIONS

Ballots Used for First Time
SUCCESSFUL NOMINEES

New Executives to Appoint
Athletic Managers

From a large field of candidates, men students enrolled in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences elected their class officers for the current session yesterday.

For the first time in the history of the faculty the 2nd, 3rd and 4th years voted by ballot. The Arts Undergraduate Society stated last night that it was pleased with the heavy voting that went on at the polls in front of Moyse Hall. Voting was rather slow during the early hours of polling but was exceedingly heavy when the polls closed at 1 p.m.

The freshman class elected its officers from the floor of Moyse Hall immediately following the English 2 period. As only two nominations had been received by the deadline at noon Wednesday, nominations were called from the floor yesterday, raising the number of contestants to five and six for each position.

The successful candidates are as follows:

First Year.
President: Tim Burgess; Vice-President: Hyman Surchin; Secretary-Treasurer: Gui Caron.

Second Year.
President: George C. McDonald; Vice-President: Bill Wilkinson; Secretary-Treasurer: Jack Gottheil.

Third Year.
President: Walter Conrad; Vice-President: Doug Campbell; Secretary-Treasurer: George Flower.

Fourth Year.
President: Cuthbert Gifford; Vice-President: Monty Berger; Secretary-Treasurer: John Edward.

Athletic managers for each class are to be appointed by each executive before Sunday, October 16th.

The newly-elected presidents will begin their duties when they meet with the executive of the Arts Undergraduate Society at lunch on Tuesday, October 18th, to discuss plans for the winter.

NEWMANITES ENGAGE ETIENNE'S ORCHESTRA

The first Informal Dance of the season for the Newman Club will swing into action in the Grill Room of the Union next Wednesday night at 9 under the influence of Archie Etienne's baton.

The Newman Club is composed of all Roman Catholic students at McGill and is affiliated with similar clubs in large universities in Canada and the United States. The Executive of the club said that this dance will be an opportunity for any Catholic students who were not present at the first meeting of the club to become acquainted with the present members. They extend the invitation to attend the dance to all Newman Club members and their friends.

Students Take Vital Part During Spanish War Crisis

Cultural Development of Country Hindered by Invasion, Says Delegate to Vassar Youth Conference

"The conditions in the universities and schools of Spain before the war were just the same as they are in Canada at the present time. That is why it is so difficult to explain to a Canadian audience how changed these conditions are as a result of the war," began Manuel Azcarati in his talk at the first open meeting of the Social Problems Club which took place in the Union Ballroom yesterday afternoon.

Manuel Azcarati, who was studying law at Madrid at the time the war broke out and was a member of the Spanish delegation to the Vassar Youth Conference, stressed the vital part which the Spanish students are taking in the present crisis. He was accompanied by Miss Constance Kyle, who is the American representative of the International Committee for Aid to Children and has been working in Spain for the last fourteen months. Miss Kyle talked about the relief in food, clothing and medical supplies which was coming from many countries, notably America.

"The youth of Spain before the war," continued Manuel Azcarati, "was trying to realize democracy and to increase culture. Student organizations were formed to wipe out illiteracy in the small, backward villages and to present the classical Spanish drama. Progress was being made. Then came the war. The Spanish people realized that it was necessary to defend themselves against invasion before going on with their constructive work. For the war in Spain really is an invasion. It is not a civil war, not a religious war, not a war of Spaniards against Spaniards. It is a war of all Spain against the invasion of German and Italian Fascists."

"The Spanish army proves the capacity that students have for performing decisive services for their country. They have reached high official positions in a very short time. But even during the war and in the very trenches the progress of cultural development has not stopped. School teachers and university professors are absolutely freed from military service in order to organize classes to teach reading and writing and to give higher instruction. The Spanish army is a school as well as being a defensive unit."

"The Spanish Government, in the midst of all its difficulties, carries on its administrative affairs as though in any peaceful democratic country. It has increased the allowance of money for education; there is perfect freedom of thought and the press; churches are open; Mass is said every Sunday; priests are allowed to go into the Sanitary Service in order that they may help their country without breaking the vow they have taken against killing."

"The strongest impression I have of the war," continued the speaker, "is not of the front, but of an incident at Barcelona. The press reports briefly and casually a series of ten bombardments during one night of a city. But the story I am going to tell you is not of ten bombardments, not of one bombardment, but of one bomb. In a large school containing a great number of children between the ages of two and fourteen, the warning suddenly came of an approaching air raid. The children fled to the basement. This was no protection. In a few minutes the debris of the shattered (Continued on Page Four)

GLEE CLUB PLANNING MACDONALD CONCERT

Inaugurating another season of song, the R.V.C. Glee Club met yesterday afternoon for tea in the Common Room of the Royal Victoria College.

After welcoming the freshets, Helen Kydd, president of the Club, described the year's activities.

The main events will be a concert at Macdonald College at Christmas time, and a concert in conjunction with the Boys' Glee Club some time in the spring.

Mrs. Grant, who was guest of honour, gave a speech describing the splendid work the club has done in the past. Then Mr. Harry Norris, the director of the club, stated that the rehearsals would be held on Thursdays at two o'clock.

At the elections which followed, Phyllis Buckingham was elected Treasurer.

C.O.T.C. WITNESSES ARMY MANOEUVRES

Candidates for Certificates See Royal Canadian Regiment in Action

Candidates for the "A" and "B" certificates, officers, and N.C.O.'s above the rank of sergeant of the McGill C.O.T.C. will witness a demonstration of "The Platoon in Attack" to be given Sunday morning at nine o'clock by the "D" Company of the Royal Canadian Regiment at Cote St. Luc.

Candidates for "A" and "B" certificates and a limited number of others will gather before 9 a.m. on Sunday morning at the C.O.T.C. headquarters on University street where they will embark on a waiting bus scheduled to depart for Cote St. Luc at nine sharp. The demonstration will cover ground in military tactics to be studied this year by candidates for "A" and "B" certificates. The limitation to candidates for "A" and "B" certificates is necessary because only one bus has been detailed to the McGill C.O.T.C.

Recruiting offices of the McGill C.O.T.C. are open every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 8 to 10 p.m. at headquarters, 3480 University street in the Orderly Room.

He has his residence in the McGill Union.

Monday Marks Opening of Debating Competition

Contestants Speak on Topic to Be Announced

Freshman public speaking will officially begin on Monday when the annual competition for the Bovey Shield will take place in the Music Room of the Union at 5 o'clock.

All freshmen who have entered the contest will find the subject announced in Monday's Daily, and will have an opportunity to speak for five minutes on either side of the resolution. The order of speaking is determined by drawing lots and the participants will be allowed to hear the arguments of the men following, but not those of the men before.

The Bovey Shield was donated by Col. Wilfrid Bovey, Director of Extramural Relations of McGill and one of the nine directors of the Canadian Radio Corporation. The Colonel presented the shield to the Debating Union Society in order to foster impromptu speaking among the newcomers to McGill. Any freshman who wishes to take part in the contest is invited to do so, while the Debating Union emphasizes the fact that no previous experience is necessary. The judges will also be announced in Monday's Daily, stated Morton Godine, president of the McGill Debating Union and chairman of the Bovey Shield contest.

VARSITY STRONG

Hamilton and Tabah Not To Play

TRAIN LEAVES AT 4.25

Redmen to Have Plenty of Support in Game

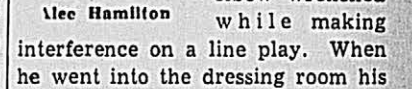

Tomorrow afternoon in Toronto the Kerr Klan will take the field against Warren Stevens' Varsity squad in an attempt to obtain first place in the Inter-collegiate Football League. The Toronto team so far this year has shown great form winning their pre-season exhibition games and defeating Queen's last Saturday, to tie with McGill for first place. A large crowd of supporters will board the McGill Excursion Train this afternoon to attend tomorrow's game. On the Western gridiron Queen's will face the Mustangs when each team will try to evade landing in the cellar.

The Excursion Train will leave Windsor Station this afternoon at 4.25 and will arrive in Toronto at 11 o'clock. Upon returning to Montreal the trip may be made on any train leaving Toronto for Montreal on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday except the Pool Train No. 6. After the game an informal dance has been arranged at Hart House, which corresponds to the McGill Union, on the Varsity Campus. The tickets for the dance will cost $1.25.

Hamilton and Tabah Out.

Two of the Redmen who took part in last Saturday's game will not see action against Varsity tomorrow. Alec Hamilton, the regular flying wing, is laid up in bed with an attack of influenza and will be unable to make the trip with the team.

In a scrimmage on Wednesday night Eddie Tabah had his left elbow wrenched while making interference on a line play. When he went into the dressing room his arm had swollen up badly. He had an X-ray taken, which showed that a piece of bone in the elbow had been fractured. Even though Eddie will not be able to play tomorrow he might make the trip and sit on the bench with the team and try help Doug Kerr with his worrying during the game. The two men who will make the trip in place of Hamilton and Tabah will be Chuck Smith and Joey Jacobson. Chuck will fill in on the line in place of Eddie. Joey, who is an outside wing, will be playing this position if he gets into action. Last Saturday Coach Kerr only used two wings during the game, with Jimmy Hall playing for nearly sixty minutes, and Wilson and Drury alternating. Murray Telford, whose injured leg prevented him from taking much of a part in last week's contest, will be in his position tomorrow. Murray's return to the lineup will compensate for the loss of Eddie Tabah on the line. If Murray is able to hit his stride (Continued on Page Four)

Accuracy

THAT accuracy is a prime obligation of those who would enjoy freedom of opinion, has been a theme constantly stressed by Sir Edward Beatty, Chancellor of McGill University. Sir Edward Beatty's remarks have been justly notable for their good sense and straightforwardness. We may be wrong, but we venture the opinion that nothing is perhaps more disliked by him than irresponsible and inaccurate statements.

It is appropriate for a man of such outstanding and recognized merit to remind students occasionally of the necessity of truthfulness and correctness in the opinions they may express. For it must be admitted that youth is impulsive and more apt to be misled by empty phrases and appeals to passion than its elders.

But if youth is sometimes amenable to the irrational, it does not follow that when it has attained manhood its opinions are always tempered by a "sober second thought." When older men, holding responsible positions in public life, make statements which are unparalleled for inaccuracy and the complete absence of truth, there is cause for grave concern.

Due discount will always be made for youthful enthusiasm. But there is no such reason why any allowance should be made for error in the remarks of mature men who are expected to consider things dispassionately and carefully. When older men make public addresses, their remarks will be taken at face value. Even though these statements may be inaccurate, they will still be believed by a considerable number of persons who cannot be informed of the truth.

We have, for example, the accusations levelled by Frank O'Hara, Michigan insurance broker, that communism has invaded the campuses at McGill and the University of Toronto. Obviously O'Hara is not acquainted with conditions that exist in Canadian universities, yet his address was quoted in newspapers from coast to coast. While many readers probably realized that O'Hara was inaccurate, others accepted his remarks as authoritative.

Fortunately, ridiculous statements, exemplified by the address of the Mid-Western insurance man, are not made every day. But there is the tendency among onlookers outside the university to arrive at wholly unwarranted conclusions concerning opinions held by students.

We ask for but one thing—that such persons express their beliefs only after a careful examination of university life.

J. P. McEvoy, the famous American humorist, is disgusted with the whole business of a job to make money. He can't understand why "we should be glad to work at a job we don't like in order to make money we can't save, to put it where we can't get it back, so we will have it when we are too old to enjoy it."

LETTERS FROM CHINA

By GRANT LATHE

(Editor's Note: Grant Lathe, McGill medical student, recently returned from a trip to China where he investigated the present situation among Chinese students. Lathe represented the Canadian Student Assembly in a delegation composed of four delegates from leading American and European youth movements. In the following letters, Lathe describes conditions as he saw them.)

In order not to prejudice the work of the Shanghai students, who are carrying on under difficult circumstances now that the city is surrounded by Japanese-held territory, it has been necessary to remove from the letters all specific references to students who received the delegation in Shanghai.)

Empress of Japan,
May 19, 1938.

Shanghai was a sobering influence. For twelve miles from the branching of the Yangtze we were met by a continual panorama of wasted territory. It is hard to reproduce on paper the impression that it creates. In the first place it all seemed so unreal. One had almost to continually remind himself that this is what aggression means to realize the full implications, to keep in mind that this was not just another fake Hollywood production. The waterfront was occupied with a mushroom growth of piers, docks, warehouses, barracks, dry docks, and every accessory of the war base that the Japanese have established for themselves. The background to this seething activity was an array of torn fields, tottering factory buildings, broken down pagodas, blocks and blocks of desolated homes. We passed the campus of the University of Shanghai, now a million dollar ruin; higher up the river was the power station, now a sombre monument carved out with artillery shells. As we approached the city, the shore was heavily occupied with the remains of Chinese buildings, these hid from our view the acres and acres of desolation that extended on and on. It was not a pretty picture. Apart from the small bands of uniformed Japanese soldiers working along the piers and the shore there was scarcely a soul to be seen. It required effort to realize that this had been one of the most populated areas in the world.

In The International Settlement.

Arrangements were made through a sight-seeing agency to visit one of the "war torn" areas. Proceeding along Nanking road our bus came to a small iron bridge, about fifty yards across. In contrast to the heavy streams of traffic on neighboring thoroughfares there was a mere trickle of pedestrians and carriages passing between the barbed wire entanglements heaped up at the sides. Crossing the bridge our bus passed between almost completely deserted streets. On each side there was wreckage upon wreckage. Collapsing buildings, torn up lamp-posts, shattered store-fronts, repeated over and over, block upon block. Here and there were Japanese sentry boxes, some unoccupied, others with small squads of infantrymen, helmeted and with gleaming bayonets. I found myself naively wondering if the rifles were loaded. As we got into the areas where fighting had been more violent the spectacle became even more distressing. In blocks not a house would be left standing. Hundreds of sandbag barriers lined the streets, extending right into the building ruins. Apparently the Japanese had to take the district literally room by room. At one point the bus stopped. Our road was barred with a row of steel rails driven into the ground at an angle to provide a barricade against tanks. We continued on foot. We came to a "pill box," built inside a corner house by the Chinese. The house had now tumbled down but it remained like new. It would be almost impossible to take such an arsenal. In fact they said that the district was never wrenched from the Chinese in battle. The district was almost cut off and the defenders had to retreat for food. Outside one of the homes was a skull picked clean by the weather. Most of the bodies had been removed, either by man or by animals. We entered a small church: "Rescue the perishing!" screamed from its opening page. We returned to the bus. By chance my eye caught the title: International Guides Bureau—Interesting, Educational, Entertaining. "This is Chapel," said our driver. The picture was completed by a sign dangling from a tattered building: European Butcher Shop.

Student Activity.

"I was sent to Hankow by the Shanghai Student Union to make an official report to you, and to make connections with the headquarters of the Chinese Student Union." With these words our courier began his sketch of the life of Shanghai students. Our day had been very long, it was already eleven at night, but we could not resist the infectious spirit of this lanky Chinese lad of twenty years.

"Two weeks ago my fellow students bought my passage on a boat leaving Shanghai, and disguised me as a merchant to make the trip." His cold calculated sentences, punctuated by our translator, spoke eloquently of the determination and indomitable spirit of his fellow students in that "isolated island," Shanghai.

"You passed my own destroyed campus on the way to Shanghai, but we are not discouraged. Our task is not complete until our university is built anew. We shall maintain the honour of our martyred fellow students by carrying on the bitter struggle without compromise! . . . 'We are busy at our lessons all the time from eight in the morning to five in the afternoon, but we grasp every spare minute to work for mass education.' There sprang to my mind the present site of the University of Shanghai, surreptitiously pointed out to me—a warehouse, without even a signboard.

"At the fall of Shanghai the state of mind of our fellow students was very anxious and uncertain. Many had been lost, several by assassination—we have found their heads and hands on our doorsteps in the morning. In this terror it became the duty of the Union to try every way to maintain morale, and to encourage them to carry on the work of liberation, stubbornly and secretly. Within the schools and colleges we have established self-government, class societies, round table conference on current events, social meetings—all to enrich the lives of the students under trying circumstances."

Propaganda Continues.

"During holidays we have joined in celebration, distributing hand bills, posters, to encourage the people. We have used every means possible. For instance, on the day of celebration for the Shanghai resistance of 1932 we sent up many colored balloons marked, 'Down With Japanese Imperialism,' and 'Support Generalissimo Chiang to Resist Full Victory.' Thousands of badges with similar slogans have been issued. . . .

"One of our most important weapons is 'Student Life,' now in its 14th issue of 5,000 copies each. . . . Dramatics are a necessary part of the educational work. Besides it makes more helpful the backward students who are active, but not enough so, and meanwhile under the dark power of the Shanghai enemy it would not incur notice. There are about twenty groups in Shanghai with at least twenty members in each group. Refugee camps and schools are their haunts, and in the name of comforting refugees they can publicly play in various theatres. . . .

"Many of our students, while they study during the day, teach at night. In the night schools run by the Union there are over five hundred students. Many kinds of people attend, ricksha coolies, refugees, factory girls, coolies from the docks, all trying to become educated to assist their nation. . . .

"Lastly there are our fellow students among the guerrilla troops around Shanghai. They appear like little devils from the forest to deal with the enemy by sudden attacks. Most well known are the two hundred students who organized a partisan unit under the banner of the Shanghai Student Union in a place about 90 li (thirty miles) from Shanghai. The unit has now increased to two thousand members. . . .

"These are the ways we are continuing the glorious history of Chinese Youth in its resistance campaign day after day."

He paused, and then leaning forward in his chair concluded: "We hope you will tell the students of the world these things we are doing for the cause of Peace that unites us all."

A month later, passing through Hankow, I hailed one of the Student Union leaders. "Has our friend returned to Shanghai yet?" "He has gone several days?" Then a silence.

"And what are the rest of you doing?" I queried.

"Chen was killed yesterday in the air raid," and then tersely, "those of us that are not doing mass education are studying guerrilla warfare."

The Canadian Artists Bureau

"Daily" readers will find it agreeable to learn of the continued existence of the Canadian Artists Bureau, which made a successful managerial debut last year, when it offered us an interesting and varied series. It ranged, as a matter of fact, from Mercado, the good maestro of Mexican tipico, to Albert Spalding—even managing to take in Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner on the rebound.

According to recent announcements, this year is to provide concerts of a still more even quality. For the first evening, Ted Shawn and his men dancers are to appear. Mr. Shawn, whose artistry has added greatly to the vocabulary of the dance, is one of that remarkable company of innovators now creating in America who are making the dance outstrip all other art forms in fruitfulness and vitality. He was, with Ruth St. Denis and Isidora Duncan one of the first to substitute for the classic ballet a dance whose aim was to express or interpret an inner compulsion. His group is to appear in His Majesty's Theatre on October 22. On November 19 a notable negro choir which participated in New York and on tour as a part of the company of "Porgy and Bess," Gershwin's folk opera, will make an appearance. Miss Eva Jessye, its conductor was the musical director of the first negro talking picture "Hallelujah," and of Gertrude Stein's opera "Four Saints in Three Acts," from which excerpts are to be sung in the course of the chorus' local appearance.

The third concert of the series will be a song-recital by Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan Star, and a veteran of both radio and motion pictures, on February 6; March 20 will bring a novelty quintet of singers known as the Comedian Harmonists, and on April 12 the great Polish piano virtuoso, Artur Schnabel, who for more than thirty years has been in the front rank of contemporary performers will appear. A special concert, not to be included in the series, is of unusual interest, and will offer Marian Anderson, the eminent young soprano. All concerts this year are to take place at 8.30 p.m. For complete information pertaining to this series, phone CRescent 8542. Special rates for McGill students are being offered.

The Season's Final "Pop" Concert by Les Concerts Symphoniques.

Special students' tickets at twenty-five cents have been issued by the management of Les Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal, for their special concert to take place next Tuesday evening at the Forum. The performance will be for the benefit of the V.C.G. Tuberculosis Clinic, and, for this special occasion, Rosario Bourdon will come from New York to conduct.

Students wishing to procure these special seats may do so by applying to the offices of Les Concerts Symphoniques in the Windsor Hotel. The telephone number is LANCASTER 6037.

CO-EDITS

Only two days have passed, lassies, and we find we are back in circulation again.

Firstly, we hope that those of you who are going to Toronto this week-end will make a point of giving your support to the McGill team on Saturday morning at the Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament.

The McGill girls who will represent the Red and White are Barbara Barnard, Rosette Renshaw, Anna Denton, and Isobel Cation, and according to all reports they won't let the Alma Mater down. So get over there Saturday morning and give them a big hand.

And while we're on the subject of women's sports, we might say that if you didn't make the tennis team, there is basketball coming up now. In fact there's a practice today at Montreal High and by the notice yesterday it looks like a good field.

The next item on the list is about the non-existent Women's Debating Union. However we hope it isn't going to be non-existent for long, and we're working very hard to get it started. It will, of course, be a distant relation to the McGill Debating Union proper, but so distant that it will occupy a position on the campus similar to that of the Engineer's Debating Union. This is as far as we dare go with the news about it at present, but we hope to have the full details rounded up by next week. But the most important thing of all, and on which the whole scheme hinges, is whether we are going to have evidences of support on the part of the co-eds before material steps will be taken? If we do have such evidence then we will try to guarantee the successful organization of a Women's Debating Union.

We were very interested in that article in the Daily yesterday entitled "Co-eds Put Harness On The Fickle Dating Problem." Without wishing to seem niggardly we are inclined to think, from statistics that the co-eds of the institution whence the article came, seem to be having trouble keeping those college boys in their place. So they have evaluated them. The question is, will the undying ego of the male make itself known once more by putting a different interpretation on the valuation system to what the fair sex intended, and so become more insufferable than ever?

We hesitate to take sides on this issue, as you can see, because we realize, being truly feminine, what would happen, don't you?

And so, girls (and boys) we bid you a fond adieu, until the next time.

AN ODESSY OF A TWIN'S TWIN

My brother and I were twins. We looked so much alike that no one could tell us apart. One day in school my brother threw spitballs, and I was punished. My brother was arrested for speeding, and I spent three days in jail for it. I had a girl and my brother ran off with her. But ah, at last I got even with him. I died and they buried him!—Exponent.

New York—A fact not generally known is that most of the Bibles sold in this country are printed in Belgium. Partly on this account, printing is to be displayed in historic fashion in the Belgium building at the New York World's Fair, 1939. Art binding, particularly in leather, is high craft in Belgium, so many examples of it are to be shown. One section of the exhibit is to be devoted to rare old manuscripts now in the Antwerp Museum.

Are the Canadians smarter than we? While America, glorious land of the free, with its limitless natural resources, has thirteen millions unemployed (approximately 20 per cent. of our population) Canada has the lowest minimum of unemployment since the depression began nearly ten years ago. Let's run over and ask them how they do it!

Cooke Approaches Record in 880-Yard Dash

One of the biggest upsets in the last decade in the line of inter-faculty sports took place yesterday at the 68th annual Interfaculty Track Meet, when a strong Arts aggregation lifted the title and ended the dominance which Medicine has enjoyed in this meet for the past decade. The School of Graduate Studies ran a poor third, the point-standing at the end of the afternoon being: Arts, 42; Medicine, 35; Grad. School, 21; Dentistry, 19; Engineering, 16; Commerce, 11; Architecture, 5.

Purdie drew first blood in the afternoon's competition, when he took first place in the 120 high hurdles. Both he and Moscovitz topped hurdles, and Moscovitz was disqualified when he got squarely in the way of Boulter who was running.

FINAL TENNIS MATCHES SOON TO BE PLAYED

Superior Brand of Tennis Exhibited

NO SEEDED MEN UPSET

Redmen Out for Title of Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament

The Interfaculty Tennis Tournament is approaching a close and thus far no seeded players have been upset. Yesterday afternoon there were six matches played at the courts and a superior brand of tennis was displayed. But despite tough opposition three of the four seeded players reached the semi-finals and the fourth, namely J. Richer will play MacFarlane today at twelve in the last fourth round match in order to decide which one will enter the semi-final of the tournament.

In the games yesterday M. Renaud advanced to the fourth round beating Dunn by scores, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, he was eliminated however by Pierre Desaulles, a seeded player, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. McMartin played a hard fought match with Charlie Shaggas to eliminate the latter from the third round by scores of 6-3, 8-6. Shaggas who fought doggedly throughout drew the last set to fourteen games before going down to defeat. McMartin then went on to win in the fourth round against D. Mann, 6-2, 6-4, and advance to the semi-final round, however, he had an easier time in this match than in his previous one.

In the other third round encounter McFarlane and Walever fought to the bitter end of what was probably the closest contest of the day before McFarlane took the match 6-3, 11-9, after going for twenty games in the second set with each man playing a great game.

The third of the seeded players to move into the semi-finals was O'Brien who defeated F. Chu by scores of 6-4, 6-2. The three players who have advanced to the semi-final round so far will be on the Intercollegiate Tennis Team, and the fourth man will be decided on today when J. Richer and MacFarlane meet in a fourth round match. Should Richer advance to the semi-final round it will mean that all the four seeded players will represent the college in the Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament, which takes place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The Redmen will be out to take the title which they held three years ago but which was taken for the past two years by the University of Toronto.

The list of yesterday's results and the matches to come are as follows:

Results.
Renaud defeated Dunn, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 (3rd round).
McMartin defeated Shaggas, 6-3, 8-6 (3rd round).
McFarlane defeated Walever, 6-3, 11-9 (3rd round).
Desaulles defeated Renaud, 6-2, 6-3 (4th round).
McMartin defeated D. Mann, 6-4, 6-2 (4th round).

Coming Matches.
J. Richer vs. MacFarlane, today at 12:00.
Winner vs. O'Brien.

Student vs. Prof In Golf Matches

The Royal Montreal Golf Club will once more be the scene of the Annual Professor vs. Students Golf Tournament. It will be held on Sports Day, Friday, October 21st. The championship trophy is the coveted J. B. Harrington Cup. No fees from students are required. This year the Professors will entertain the student golfers at a luncheon at the Royal Montreal Golf Club.

It is vitally important that students should be responsible for getting in touch with their opponents concerning starting times at the meet and transportation to the golf course. The competition is to be a handicap four-ball match play. Two thirds of the difference in the combined handicaps are to apply both ways, that is, on the best ball and aggregate. Fractions of one third are to be disregarded and the next higher number used for fractions of two thirds. Strokes are to be taken as and where shown on the score card.

The scoring is to be one point for a low ball and one for the aggregate on each hole. For the summary one point is counted for the first nine holes and one for the last nine with another point being given for the whole 18 holes. On Monday lists will be posted in the Medical, Arts and Engineering buildings for those students wishing to participate. These lists will be removed Wednesday morning. Consequently students are advised to hurry and sign up. Any two students wishing to play together should signify same by bracketing their names on the list. This may only be done if their handicaps are reasonably close.

The draw for the match will be made on Wednesday by Dr. Lamb and Jack Cowie and will be published in the Daily on Thursday.

SOCCERITES WILL PLAY CARSTEEL JR.

Game to Be Played on Saturday at 1:30 P.M.

The McGill Soccer squad was out again for a practice yesterday afternoon on the upper stadium and unfortunately many of the men are not up to par due to injuries sustained in exhibition games. Captain Jack Baranofsky will be out for the season due to the fact that an old leg injury returned after he had been on the field for only five minutes during the Dartmouth game.

Another man to be bothered with an old leg injury is Jack Soroka who is therefore a doubtful starter for the regular season. Janikun at centre forward and Joe Saltibus at left fullback have also been bothered by casualties.

However in order to get the team into the best possible shape for the opener here with R.M.C. on October 22, Coach Hay Finlay has arranged an exhibition game against Carsteel Jr. for Saturday afternoon at 1:30 on the upper stadium. Carsteel is in the Junior City League and are a strong team (Continued on Page Four)

Desaulles vs. McMartin.
Winners of last two play off for championship.

McGILL FROSH PLAY BISHOP'S THIS SATURDAY

Confident Due to Victory Over the Aggies

NEED MORE DRILLING

Bishop's Game to Decide Chance for Championship

Yesterday evening Coach Wally Markham put his Frosh Gridders through their paces at Molson's Stadium, this is to be the last heavy practice the Freshmen will have before they leave for Lennoxville to tangle with the powerful squad from Bishop's College, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Freshmen went through a scrimmage practice with the Intermediates in an effort to add that certain finish to their plays which they will need to beat the Purple and White aggregate from Lennoxville. The team showed quite an edge in the practice tilt but they were not playing consistently and many of their plays could stand some more drilling and practice.

The Frosh squad have played one league game this season against the Aggies which they took by the score of 7-0. Bishop's College has also met the MacDonald Clan and came out on the right end of a 6-0 score, however, the Purple and White squad were not as fortunate against Loyola when they were beaten by a score of 7-4.

This trip to Lennoxville is expected to be a crucial game for the Redmen, for if they can put down the Bishop team by a fairly wide margin it will probably be a deciding factor in the race for championship honours.

During the practice yesterday, Cuddington, one of the middles sustained a shoulder injury and is a doubtful starter. Cuddington is a lad with plenty of stamina and is expected to go far with the team. Bruce Russel who starred with the squad in their encounter with MacDonald College has a bad leg but is nevertheless expected to be in the game although his place was taken by Gould in yesterday's scrimmage.

Today the team will have a light signal drill, then they will get together and eat at the Union. This will be followed by a chalk talk.

McGill's Rugger Squad Play Saturday—2:30

In quest of their second straight victory in the Montreal Rugger League the McGill English Rugby squad will take the field tomorrow afternoon against the champion Bank of Montreal fifteen on the Lower Campus at 2:30 p.m. The Redmen chalked up their first victory against Montreal English two weeks ago.

An important practice will be held this afternoon in which the team for tomorrow's game will be picked from those turning out. The Redmen were spectacular and at times in their Thanksgiving Day game against an all-star Montreal fifteen which they lost. Practices this week rounded off some of the rough edges, and the boys expect to be in tip-top condition for their Intercollegiate season.

Whitelaw will probably start at full-back, with Sutherland, Argo, Withrow, and another at three-quarters; Arbuckle and Angus at halves; and the forwards to be picked from today's turnout. Chaplin, three-quarter man who was injured Monday will not see action.

cord set in 1934. Borsman ran a steady race to place an easy second. S. Cooper took the pole-vault with a rather impressive mark of 9 feet 6 inches.

In the shot-put, Kissane of Medicine tossed the weight for an easy win, with Hughes placing second, ahead of Kalfas. Hughes returned to take the discus throw, with Owen and Bos following in that order. Herbie Owen lived up to predictions and tossed the javelin for 156 feet 1 inch, with Kalfas and Hughes right behind him.

Escoffery provided somewhat of an upset when he beat Carl Moscovitz to the tape in the 100 yard final, in the rather slow time of 10.9 seconds. Falls and Burke placed third and fourth, respectively. In the 220 and the 440, Vaughn Mason ran off with the honours and two first places, with Falls placing second in the 220, and Borsman second in the 440. In the 220 low hurdles Bryant ran a great race to nose out Moscovitz, with Purdie and Boulter placing third and fourth.

Cowan and Cooke staged a great battle in the mile run, with Cowan showing the way home in a last-quarter sprint. Clarry Frankton retained his three-mile honours, winning from Todd and Bob Quimby. Quimby stayed right behind Clarry until the 11th lap, when his leg began to bother him, and he had to leave the race half-way around the final lap. Peck lifted the high jump with a good leap of 5 feet 8 inches, Bryant, Yuile and Garrett placing behind him. In the final event of the afternoon Burke took the broad-jump from a large field, with a really good leap of 21 feet 3 inches. Escoffery, Calder and Garrett placed in that order.

On the afternoon's showings it appears to be safe to predict a fairly strong team for the intercollegiate meet here next Friday. It is essential, however, that ALL the competitors in yesterday's meet should continue to turn out next week, since practically all of them will be needed to form the necessary senior and intermediate squads. It should be noted, also, that the date for the intermediate meet has been moved forward to Tuesday, October 25. In view of these factors, the coach would appreciate the co-operation of the boys by turning out as soon as possible after the week-end.

Summary of event results:
120 High Hurdles—Purdie, Boulter (18 secs.).
880 Yard Dash—Cooke, Borsman, Berman, Ross (2:02).
Pole Vault—Cooper, Charlton, Langley (9 ft. 6 ins.).
Shot Put—Kissane, Hughes, Kalfas (38 ft. 5 1/2 ins.).
One Mile—Cowan, Cooke, Peters, Lloyd-Smith (4:35.5).
220 Yards Low Hurdles—Bryant, Moscovitz, Purdie, Boulter, Charlton (28.6).
High Jump—Peck, Bryant, Yuile, Garrett (5 ft. 8 ins.).
440 Yards—Mason, Borsman, Berman, Purdie (52.8).
Broad Jump—Burke, Geoffery, Calder, Garrett (21 ft. 5 1/2 ins.).

Javelin—Owens, Kalfas, Hughes, Charlton (156 ft. 1 in.).
100 Yards—Escoffery, Moscovitz, Falls, Burke (10.9).

so that the Redmen can be certain of a close battle.

The team went through a one and a half hour practice yesterday afternoon under Coach Hay-Finlay who was stressing the team's offensive play most of the time, and he plans to switch a few men to different positions in an attempt to put more scoring punch into their play, this seems to be the team's only drawback and probably accounts for their losses against Dartmouth and Amherst.

Despite two setbacks the squad does not lack spirit and will be out there fighting in the exhibition game against Carsteel Jr. on Saturday.

The probable line-ups will be as follows:

there will be plenty of power on the line.

Anton To Kick.
Last night at the stadium Fred Wigle took over the boys and gave them an intensive line drill. All the players including the back-fielders were bucking the bags and getting into good trim. Andy Anton one of the stars of last week's victory over Western, did not get into the heavy drilling as his shoulder was a bit sore. Andy was out practising his drop kicking which may be a deciding factor in tomorrow's game. In Cam Gray of Varsity may be seen one of the best and most consistent three-point kickers in Eastern Canada. Cam besides does the ordinary booting for the Toronto team, and Herb Westman will have to be doing his best kicking to outdistance Gray.

Reliable information concerning the Toronto Squad is lacking but it may be judged from past performances that Warren Stevens will field a team which will not be in

AGGIES MEET LOYOLA IN TOMORROW'S TILT

Tomorrow afternoon the Aggies will tackle Loyola on the Maroons' home grounds. This game will mean the halfway mark for the Mac squad in this year's football wars. They were defeated 7 to 0 and 6 to 0 in their two earlier games. While the score is not an always dependable indicator of the balance of play, it is nevertheless true that the Green and Gold were outplayed in both previous encounters. The same two games also revealed that the material this year is good though short in experience; defensively, they are on a par with their opponents. Offensively, they are still weak. Their plays are slow and often ill-timed; their aerial attack at the present moment is almost negligible. The best, though costly, means of improvement came in the experience gained in the last two games.

In Loyola they will be meeting a team who already have one victory to their credit. The Maroons have a well balanced squad led by a great quarterback in Shaughnessy. The Mac kicking assignment is being handled with rare competence by Art Neish. Casserly has proved to be a bulwark on the line, while Ross of the newcomers to the team has been breaking up many a play of the opposition.

All in all, Mac's chances for victory are bright in this third game, if they carry that extra amount of fight and vitality seen in practices into the fray tomorrow.

need of good training in any department of the game. The 13-6 victory last Saturday at Kingston when Varsity took Queen's proved that they have a strong team and that their two pre-season wins were not just plain exhibition games.

The following is the list of men who will either see action in tomorrow's game or else sit on the bench. At least these men will be in uniform: P. Robb, Captain Lou Ruschin, M. Telford, A. Anton, B. Kenny, H. Bartram, J. Hall, K. Wilson, C. Drury, J. Jacobson, R. Perowne, B. Keefer, H. Westman, R. Merifield, C. Smith, P. Foster, A. Bradisher, E. Rossiter, M. McDougall, M. Beveridge.

STUDENTS TAKE PART IN CRISIS

building was covering the school children. Four were immediately killed and six were wounded. While were removing the ruins, which was a long and difficult task, we heard the pitiful cries of the children who were hardly able to breathe in the suddenly-formed cave, and who were terror-stricken at seeing four of their number lying dead beside them. By the time we were able to remove the debris, six more were dead. This is one of the horrors constantly being brought about by German and Italian planes and German and Italian pilots. We have no instruments with which to resist. That is forbidden by the so-called non-intervention plan.

"Because we are united, then, whatever the sacrifices and the reverses which we are compelled to suffer now, we have absolute confidence in the victory of the Spanish people."
